Continuing Medical Education Mission Statement
For Northwest Community Hospital

Northwest Community Healthcare supports the concept of continuing medical education for its physicians by establishing an organized and planned program for accomplishing this purpose.

The purpose of the CME program at Northwest Community Hospital is to provide educational experiences that maintain or improve the patient care services provided by our medical staff.

The CME content will focus on patient care and patient safety issues. This will include topics that are broad in scope and relevant to the educational needs of the majority of the medical staff, as well as more specific content related to the needs of a specific department or section.

The target audience will be members of the medical staff at Northwest Community Hospital, but other physicians practicing or residing in our community who request permission to attend will be accommodated.

CME activities will include regularly scheduled lectures (live and video), case conferences, and a tumor board. Conferences, hands-on skills workshops, seminars, and journal clubs will be offered when supported by the efforts of a specific department or section.

The expected results of our CME program will be that participating physicians will improve care to their patients. When circumstances and system factors are appropriate, physicians will:
1. Demonstrate knowledge to improve competence in patient care.
2. Demonstrate performance of an applied skill related to patient care.
3. Demonstrate improved patient outcomes through data measurement.
